

...the sad thing
is people will keep writing poems
about moonlight
spread across
the snow.

Maybe the best
one has been written, and
it melted
in the sunlight.